The Rev. Simon Hocking, who officiated at the services, and had been associated with him in church work for many years, praised him as "a devoted public servant and fine American." Members of the Masonic Lodge gave Masonic rites at the burial in Ignace Cemetery.

Mr. Cottle had made many friends in Grayling on his frequent visits to the home of his daughter here. He had recently returned to his St. Ignace home after spending some time in Florida and passed away very suddenly on March 6th.

Attending the services from Grayling were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoessl, Dan Hoessl and Emil Giegling.

It Happened In Argentina . . .

At more or less regular intervals, it is proposed that the government take a dominant part in the job of improving our standards of medical care, and that large sums of our tax money be used to subsidize medical schools, hospitals, community health endeavors, and other activities. These proposals invariably pay lip service to the cause of medical freedom.

Unfortunately, when government gets a finger in any pie, it usually isn't long until it has a stranglehold on the whole pie. It is equally true that the more authority we give to government, the more power government will wield — at the expense of all the freedoms.

A tragic recent example of this is found in Argentina. A year ago the Argentina Congress passed a law authorizing President Peron to reorganize the National Academies of Medicine. Dictator Peron has done that, and with a vengeance. A physician cannot leave his city or stop his professional activity without permission of the Public Health Ministry. He must obey all orders issued by that Ministry, and by the professional colleges and corporations which have become Peron's rubber stamps. Scientific societies cannot even hold meetings without police permission, and in some cases this permission has been refused. In short, the last vestiges of academic freedom in Argentina have been destroyed. The medical profession is a pawn of an authoritarian state.

It's easy to say "It couldn't happen here." But Argentina also was a free country once. So were many other nations which are now enslaved. The way to guarantee freedom is to limit, not extend, the powers and obligations of government.

Browse vs. Growth

How much damage is done trees and other growths by feeding deer? Do trees recover and continue growth after being stripped by browsing deer? Conservation department studies in the Dead Stream Swamp near Houghton Lake are trying to answer these and other problems as part of continuing efforts to manage Michigan's problematic deer herd. Game biologist Walter Palmer here studies the cross-section of a tree that was ever-browsed to determine the subsequent growth rate. He uses an "increment borer" to drill out a sample of the tree's core for his studies.

Support For Driver Licensing Program

Sheriff John A. Papendick, today announcing that his department is continuing its efforts to call to the attention of all motorists the serious responsibility that goes with the drivers license—a responsibility which is often a matter of life or death.

In commenting on the seriousness of the situation the Sheriff said "when two cars crash together this proves that one or both drivers failed to live up to the responsibilities of their licenses. When they received the license they stated that they knew how to drive safely and they promised to drive safely. Records prove that over 80% of the collisions are caused by specific violation—the breaking of the law the motorist had promised not to break."

According to Sheriff Papendick the 150,000 accidents in Michigan last year substantiate the fact that far too many Michigan motorists do not take their licenses seriously. That is why, he said, that the law of enforcement and court officials throughout Michigan are making a concerted effort to take action against motorists who insist in violating the traffic law and ignore the responsibilities that go with the privilege of driving.

In conclusion he added "Broken laws, broken license promises and broken vehicles and people all go together. He called upon all motorists to live up to their licenses and save lives.

Plan Summer Fluoride Program

Plans are going ahead again for the summer program of fluoride application for the prevention of dental caries. Dental caries is the chief defect in today's school population, 83% of school children having cavities at the time the fluoride program was started.

The district health department wishes to express the need for all factors influencing a reduction in dental caries: Good dental care, see the dentist twice a year, good diets, with a reduction in carbohydrate foods, tooth brushing after meals, and the application of fluoride every three years until the age of 13 or 14. With this program there should be a reduction of 50 to 75% in the next few years. The use of fluoride, topically applied to the teeth, will reduce dental caries about 50% in those children having the treatment.

Children in the 2nd, 5th, and 8th grades are treated each year, and also those referred by their family dentist. The request for service cards will be sent out through the schools about April 1st, to be returned by April 15th. If for some reason parents children in the above groups do not receive these letters by April 15th, and they desire treatment for their children, they should contact their school, the health department office, or the health department nurse.

Topical fluoride application is harmless and painless. The teeth are cleaned, fluoride applied, and the fluoride application is repeated three times, at two or three day intervals. Convenient centers will be established, but it is necessary to have enough children in each area to make these centers economically possible. If the number is short of this goal it will be necessary to transport children to a nearby center. Cost of the total treatment is $3.00.
